

A calendar had no place in traditional life long ago.

For the people of the Puget Sound, the world itself was the calendar.

An awareness of seasons and the passage of time came in response to what was happening in the natural world. The calendar, for lack of a better term, was in response to an interactive relationship of the plants and animals around us, as well as the tides and stars.

The calendar this year focuses on traditional clothing, more importantly regalia. The Coast Salish people around Puget Sound wore various types of clothing depending upon the season. During the summer, the men wore little clothing, while the women wore cedar skirts woven from pounded inner cedar bark. Cedar hats are often worn to protect people from the rain, wind, and sun. As the weather turned colder, both men and women wore heavier cedar garments because cedar held up better against the water. During cold winter times, clothing was lined with fur, feathers, or moss to add warmth and comfort. Regalia is usually highly decorated and worn during various ceremonies.

The Lushootseed Calendar is closely related to the Lunar calendar, meaning there are 12 or 13 months in a year, and several time periods cover more than one Gregorian calendar month.

In 2022 there are 13 new moons.

In 2023 there will be 12 new moons.

The seasons, which the months are roughly based on are:

Fall pəd?uladx, silver salmon return.

Winter pədfəs, cold weather.

Spring ?uhi?hədəb, getting a little warmer.

Summer pədhədəb, hot season.
